CUYAHOGA FALLS BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

1879-80.

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Summit County, Ohio, has a population of 2,500, is situated on the Cleveland, Mt. Vernon and Columbus R. R., 34 miles from Cleveland, and 5 miles north of Akron, the county seat. The village officers are W. A. Hanford, mayor; S. D. Tifft, corporation clerk; Richard Reid, marshal; J. F. Weidner, Joseph Jones, C. Kittelberger, Ed. Inskeep, Charles Hunt and Ephraim Blood, common council.

The village is becoming a favorite resort for pleasure seekers—during the month of August last the average of daily excursionists was over 500.

The village is over 400 feet above Lake Erie; the town is underlaid with sand rock, from which springs and wells give abundant supply of soft water of the purest quality. Three churches, have each excellent places of worship. A school house, costing over $40,000, is completed.

This place offers the best situations for manufacturing or residence in Northern Ohio. Its elevated situation—with an undulating surface of ground—gives perfect drainage, and renders the location remarkably free from miasmata.

J. Heppert makes a Specialty of Carriage and Wagon Repairing.

Silver Lake, a spring of pure water covering over 100 acres, has been improved, and is well known as a delightful place of resort, one mile northeast of the village.

The High Bridge Glens, opened in 1879, is a very popular and attractive resort.

Big Falls, three-fourths of a mile southwest of the town, is a wild, romantic spot in a rocky gorge, and is annually visited by thousands. The river for two miles northeast of town furnishes a splendid boating field. The Western Reserve College, at Hudson, and Buchtel College, at Akron, are accessible by railway for scholars who desire to reside here.

It supports a first-class newspaper, the Reporter, E. O. Knox, publisher and proprietor.

→*A BEAUTIFUL SUMMER RESORT.*←

HIGH BRIDGE GLENS AND CAVES,

CUYAHOGA FALLS, O.

The town of Cuyahoga Falls has in the last few years become quite noted as a Summer Resort, and is annually visited by thousands of people. It is situated in Summit County, Ohio, and on the beautiful river Cuyahoga, from which, owing to its numerous falls and cascades at this point, the place is named; 36 miles South of Cleveland, 130 miles North of Columbus, and four miles from Akron, the County Seat, a large and flourishing city, is easily accessible by four daily express trains, on the Cleveland, Mount Vernon and Columbus Railroad.

Passing south through the main street, a walk of a quarter of a mile, brings one to a bridge which spans a narrow gorge in the river, 100 feet above its bed.

Here has been provided a rude stairway which leads down, to a broad plateau, where has been erected an ample building with a spacious dining room and kitchen attached, where dinner parties can be served on short notice; here too, under the same roof, is a fine restaurant, where Ice Cream, Nuts, Candies, Cigars and everything in the Refreshment line, can be found; while just outside is a fine Croquet ground and numerous rustic seats, over-shadowed by high perpendicular rocks.

Stepping down a few steps is Lover's Retreat, a broad ledge of rocks, shaded by large forest trees. Quitting these ledges, and passing down another flight of stairs hedged in by rustic work, close by the river side, we come upon a broad level surface and the entrance to Fern Cave, a large subterranean cavity, in the solid rock 35 x 54 feet in dimension; here and there are all kinds of rude seats, some of iron, others of wood, where the weary from climbing can rest. Water, pure and cold as ice, comes gushing from the rocks so that all who will may drink. Leaving the cave we pass down a strongly braced stairway, running diagonally with the face of the wall to Observation Rock, a huge stone of over 100 tons weight, from which, as one casts an eye up the stream, we get a fine view of the Water Falls, of heights varying from 15 to 20 feet, also High Bridge, some 80 feet above. Below and immediately under Fern Cave is Dove's Retreat, a huge cavern with roof overhanging 25 feet above; to the right and a little down the rapids is Suspension Bridge, built above high water mark, of strong rods of iron reaching across the chasm and bedded firmly in huge boulders on each side, strong hand rails make all feel safe from the surging and foaming waters below.

Departing from the Bridge, we are now on the east side and near Cascade Point, a lovely retreat, reached by a path of rocks and boulders, under Weeping Cliff, gray walls rising tier upon tier far above, the top of which are fringed with overhanging hemlock and birch. Just here, at the base of the wall, a basin has been cut in solid rock, and a large spring of Cold Mineral Water comes pouring out in torrents. Climbing up and around an enormous mound, we gain presently a broad avenue of a mile in length called the Grand Promenade, hedged in on one side by lofty overhanging rocks and gushing Springs of pure water, and on the other by many shade trees and the winding river, where the sunlight has to struggle to get in, which makes it a cool retreat. Swings and Croquet here abound.

Other and many attractions ought to be mentioned, but space forbids. The proprietors have been to quite an expense in fitting up and putting in shape this delightful place of resort, and new and varied attractions will be added every day, the design being to make it, as it is fast becoming, the most popular resort in this section of the State. Special arrangements for large parties and pic nics can be made by letter or personal application to the proprietors.

Persons contemplating Sabbath School or Society Excursions are respectfully invited to examine the grounds before deciding to go elsewhere. In this connection we would say that the trains will stop within five rods of entrance to the grounds.
